

Hotel Check In — SNL

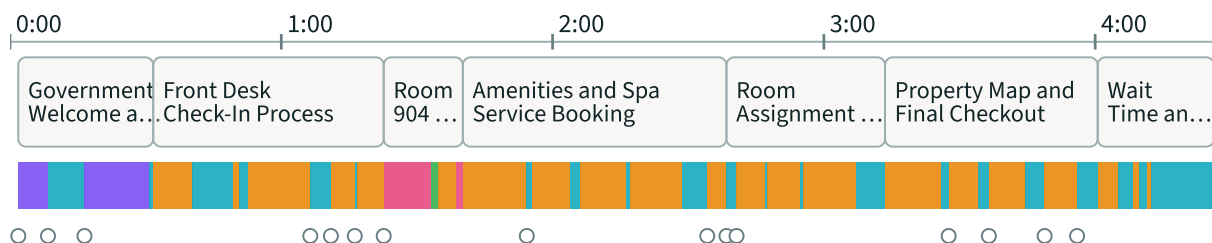

SUMMARY

This is the SNL sketch “Hotel Check In” (aired October 15, 2017), featuring Mikey Day as Mr. Adams, Kumail Nanjiani as the Front Desk Employee, Beck Bennett as a Government Representative, and Chris Redd and Leslie Jones as two unnamed Room 904 Guests. After the Government Representative thanks Adams for surviving a reporting trip in North Korea and arranges a government-paid hotel stay, Adams tries to check in at Chatsworth House, only to be repeatedly sidetracked by the front desk employee and by the Room 904 guests’ unrelated complaints.

The joke escalates as the employee relentlessly pitches the Stargazer Lounge, the “Indulge” spa, an absurdly early unchangeable 5:15 AM massage, champagne, and the in-house Danny Band instead of simply handing over a room key. By the time Adams finally receives his key to Room 905, he learns check-in won’t even begin for four hours, and the employee still recommends the same lounge and band, underscoring the sketch’s satire of pushy hospitality upselling.

Mr. Adams [00:30]

Thank you so much, sir.
